

President Hoover Uncertain as to Immediate Plans

Palo Alto, Cal., Nov. 10 (AP)—President Hoover settled himself back even more firmly in his home here today, determined to obtain a complete rest before returning to Washington to prepare for the meeting of Congress and the last four months of his administration.

Aides of the President said arrangements had been made for several California delegations, and individual friends, to meet him this afternoon, but that otherwise the scene of the Hoover home would remain quiet.

Just as the President again accented himself to Palo Alto and Stanford University, on the campus of which he lives, so the town became more accustomed to the President. The hunting and banners, saying "Welcome Home", which had been swung across the streets, were removed late yesterday.

To Return Saturday
Tentative arrangements have been made for Mr. Hoover and the party that accompanied him as he campaigned across the continent to board their special train again Saturday night for a return by a southern route to the White House.

This morning aides worked to complete the President's schedule, with two routes under consideration, either of which would carry him south to Los Angeles before turning eastward.

Mr. Hoover today devoted more time to his family than the duties of his office and his campaign have allowed him for many months. His two sons, Herbert, Jr., and Allan, along with the wife of the former and their children, remained at Hoover home.

With Mrs. Hoover, the President has planned several automobile rides that would carry them over routes they both knew together during the years of their residence here, where both attended the university.

Football Game
Should the warm weather and cloudless skies continue next Saturday, Mr. Hoover intends to see part of the football game between his alma mater and the California Aggies. He has declined an invitation to attend a service game between army and navy teams on Armistice Day.

Both the President and first lady enjoy the comfort and quiet of their home here, and Mr. Hoover told newspapermen that after his return to private life next March 4, he intended coming back to California to live. He indicated that he would engage in business enterprises, but said his plans had not yet been definitely formed.

Several formal requests were made upon the President yesterday to issue a statement on the outcome of the election, one from Chairman Everett Sanders of the Republican National Committee, but after considering the suggestion he declined, saying his telegram of congratulation to Franklin D. Roosevelt was sufficient.

Just 19 years in the day from the worst storms in lake history, vessels were forced to run for shelter and wait till a driving rainstorm had beaten down the waves.

The "Yolk" Was on Healy

Los Angeles, Nov. 10 (AP)—The "yolk" was on William Healy. He agreed to let Manuel Alonzo tie him to a post and pelt him with two dozen eggs with a bad reputation if President Hoover was not re-elected. "I think I got a rotten deal," Healy yelled as he scrambled for a shower bath.

Late Returns Still Swell Majority of Democratic Party

(By The Associated Press.)

Their victory in the general election swelling with every additional return, America's new Democratic leaders faced today four months of arduous preparation for the responsibility of piloting the government.

A free hand in directing the country was given President-elect Roosevelt by election of a house of three to one Democratic, and a senate controlled by his party, 59 to 36. This smashing victory only emphasized the significance of his never-before attained electoral vote of 472 to 59 for President Hoover.

The popular vote kept mounting toward record figures with 26,157,060 recorded for the winner out of more than 33,000,000 counted in approximately three-fourths of the country's districts.

Under this amazing grant of power, Roosevelt expressed his appreciation by saying "this clear mandate shall not be forgotten."

He termed it "a national expression of liberal thought."

Already he has informed the congressional leaders of his party that the time from now until March 4 will be devoted to creating the machinery required for the Democratic program. He is to choose also a cabinet, a major task in which his associates say he may break one more precedent by announcing its make-up considerably before inauguration.

He proposed to continue extensive consultation with experts on industry, agriculture and finance, formulating definite projects to bring into play the principles he expounded during the campaign.

Sheriff's Jury Was Empaneled

A sheriff's jury was empaneled at the court house Thursday and a hearing held before Under Sheriff J. W. Feeter as presiding judge in the matter of an affidavit presented on behalf of Paul Black of the town of Keopps, said affidavit alleging infidelity in the amount of $2,000 in 23 head of cattle which had been levied on by the sheriff's office.

The levy had been made as the result of a judgment secured by the Dairyman's League Cooperative Association against Mollie Black, mother of Paul Black. The association secured a judgment for $687.63 against Mollie Black, who conducts a milk route, it being alleged that this sum was due for milk sold to the judgment debtor.

Following the levy and notice of sale of the 23 head of cattle on which the levy had been made, the affidavit was presented establishing the claim of Paul Black to an interest in the cattle.

At the hearing before Judge Feeter Thursday afternoon to establish the validity of Paul Black's claim, the latter was represented by Sidney Schraiberg of Ellenville, Lloyd R. LeFevre appearing for the Dairyman's League.

The case occupied the entire afternoon, the jury being sent back for further deliberation following their first report on the ground that their sole duty was to determine whether or not Paul Black had a claim in the property involved. The jury finally submitted a verdict that "The cows belonged to the estate of Louis Black, deceased, and that the levy shall be lifted and said Paul Black sustains no damages by reason of said levy."

Following the hearing the sheriff was served with an order issued by Judge Loughran, staying proceedings in the matter until a hearing could be had before him at special term at 10 a. m. on November 18.

Louis Black died at Ulster Park April 19, 1924, and letters in his estate were issued to his widow, Mollie Black, in May of that year. The heirs being the widow, five sons and six daughters. In the petition for letters of administration the value of the estate was given at not to exceed $1,500 real and personal of an estimated value of $20,000.

10 Dead, Many Hurt In Cuban Hurricane

(By The Associated Press.)

A week-old tropical hurricane bore down on the Bahamas today after killing at least 10 persons, injuring several scores, and causing great damage in Cuba and Jamaica.

The British Panama Line freighter Phoenix, struck off Nicaragua by the storm, made repairs yesterday, and a salvage tug was nearby.

The British tramp lugger out of Montreal for Montevideo. Reported she was drifting in the hurricane without steering way. She did not ask assistance.

The hurricane began to appear in the Virgin Islands November 2. It dipped southward, wrecking banana plantations in Colombia, before starting out on normal northward hurricane cultivation on the island of Jamaica yesterday, and headed through the Bahamas today.

The path of the disturbance was northwesterly, and was central during the night 150 miles south of Nassau. The United States mainland was not believed in any danger.

Wets Hopeful For Beer Bill During December Session

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—Exuberant wets are talking hopefully, if still speculatively, of "beer at the December session."

Their confident predictions, reflected by the drys, are bolstered by Tuesday's overwhelming successes, national and state, of a party whose platform flatly promised repeal of constitutional prohibition and modification of the Volstead Act.

Then even before all ballots were counted, the beer cause received new impetus from such Democratic leaders as Robinson of Arkansas, the Senate leader, and Harrison of Mississippi, the Senate whip. Their voices added volume to a pre-election forecast of Speaker John N. Garner, vice president elect, that the "lame-duck House will vote beer."

Drys countered quickly, denying the election recorded a clear cut prohibition trend. They mentioned the large majorities by which the same senators and representatives who meet in December, refused to vote beer last spring.

A question mark to both sides was President Hoover's attitude toward a beer bill. Without his signature the legislation would need a two-thirds majority—the same proportion required for action on the Eighteenth amendment.

Senator Robinson included the constitutional provision with beer when he said he saw "no reason" why the short session should not consider prohibition legislation. Harrison limited his statement to beer as did Garner and Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, administration leader in a senate that will continue Republican until March.

Chief reliance of the wets in obtaining prohibition action before the new congress takes hold rested on a belief that the lame-duck congress will follow election trends. On the basis of their own pre-election classifications (no parallel dry canvass having been made), they count anti-prohibition majorities in mounting figures for both houses of the seventy-third congress.

Already more than 300 representatives-elect are listed by them as repealists, while repealists, together with those termed "submissionsists" would comprise a senate majority according to wet polls.

Roosevelt Back At Governing Job

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 10 (AP)—Harriedly glancing through piles of telegrams congratulating him on his election to the presidency, Governor Roosevelt today took up the tasks of the chief executive of New York and with his budget officer went to work on the immediate problems of state financing.

The election behind him, Mr. Roosevelt motored up from New York yesterday where he received returns from the national referendum that designated him the occupant of the White House after next March 4.

He drove into Albany last night unannounced and reached the executive mansion without the capital being aware that its distinguished citizen had returned.

Only the servants were there to greet him as the other members of his family who had been with him in his hour of triumph remained behind in New York.

The governor slept as his motor car sped up the Hudson river through a fall rain. He retired as soon as he reached the mansion.

"Good night," he called to the correspondents who accompanied him. "You better go to bed, you deserve a good, long rest. I'm going to turn in right away and tomorrow we'll get back to being governor."

En route to Hyde Park where he had supper with his mother, Mr. Roosevelt was given a noisy welcome by his neighbors of Poughkeepsie, who gave a majority of its votes to President Hoover.

Legion Promises Revelations At Armistice Ball

While Kingston people fully realize the significance of Armistice Day, November 11 has come to take on an additional meaning for local people. In addition to marking the anniversary of the day on which the world war came to a close, it also marks the date of the first big social event of the year in this city—the American Legion armistice ball at the armory.

Bringing as it does the highest type of entertainment, for which only the best available performers are obtained, dancing to the music of two well established orchestras, and decorations that are a delight to the eye, to say nothing of many other features, this annual event of the Legion is always looked forward to with considerable anticipation by Kingstonians. And this year more than ever the ball will be well worth the while, for seven acts have been booked which promise to eclipse anything the local post has ever staged, and the dance music will be furnished by John Ernie's and Harry Maesheider's orchestras.

According to one of the Legionnaires in charge of the ball, the decorations in themselves will prove a big attraction. "We intend to show our patrons something in this line," he said yesterday, "and we believe they will be agreeably surprised when they see how we have decorated the hall. We have worked out an unusual effect and will be greatly disappointed if everyone isn't pleased."

One act which the entertainment committee believes will "go over" in particularly pleasing manner is the "Manhattan Serenaders," in which eight girls take part. These girls have a way of putting over a song which remains long in the memory, and their dancing will prove something worth watching. As for wardrobe—well, they remain to be seen.

DEMOCRATS FACE JOB IN SENATE REORGANIZATION
Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—A tangle of precedents and preference confronts Democrats, with their top-heavy majority, in reorganizing the Senate after March 4.

If seniority continues to rule in designating committee chairmen, there will have to be much adjustment of personal ambitions of ranking members.

Southwestern senators, by virtue of their solid Democratic backing, and a few westerners who consistently turned back Republican opponents, generally hold the edge in continuous service, ranking membership.

So much of a margin this is that 18 senators between them hold first, second and third places 77 times on the 32 standing committees, some of them holding this high ranking on as many as three major committees.

Besides this, there is the party leadership held by Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, whose guidance as minority chieftain was challenged in the last session by Huey P. Long of Louisiana, one of the aggressive newcomers.

Another knotty angle—and one on which Republicans commented in the campaign—was what is to be done about the Independent Republicans who supported President-Elect Roosevelt. They are now in possession of prize chairmanships, under Republican rule.

Sections Flooded In New York Area

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—A whistling northeaster that churned the decade's highest tide to fury left the metropolis and much of the eastern seaboard ruefully picking up the pieces today.

Driving cold rain before it, the wind buffeted ships at sea last night and early today, knotted harbor traffic, swept the air free of planes, disrupted travel, blew down trees, poles and signs, smashed windows and flooded homes.

The tide, seven feet above normal in places, partly flooded Staten Island and the Rockaways in New York, as well as New Jersey towns. Whipping past the Empire State Building at 93 miles an hour, the wind blew pedestrians from their feet, smashed small boats, and caused several injuries.

Down in Baltimore, streets were flooded and out-bound ships fled back to safety in Chesapeake Bay. On the New Jersey coast, the Egg Harbor coast guardmen abandoned station when waves threatened to wash it away. Trains from New Jersey to New York through the Hudson Tubes were halted two and one-half hours, and ferry boats service was curtailed.

At San Bright, N. J., the waves smashed the sea wall, flooding the residential section and cutting rail connections. Parts of Atlantic City's boardwalks were wrecked.

Carlin's Sad

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—In the chill of early dawn, Vice President Charles Carlin returned to the capital today, a cheerful grin of greeting on his genial face, despite his first defeat by popular vote in a political career running back to 1884. Members of his office staff and several friends were present to greet him. For each he had a chuckling remark and smile—with no mention of election.

Rondout Creek On Rampage Flooding Streets And Docks

Bus Service to Ponckhockie Suspended and Rhinebeck Ferry Halts Trips Owing to Flood Conditions—Sections of Strand Under Two Feet of Water—Higher Water Expected.

The heavy fall of rain Wednesday night caused flood conditions in the Rondout creek and this morning the docks were under several feet of water and sections of East Strand were covered to a depth of two feet. Flood conditions halted all bus communication between Ponckhockie and the downtown business section, and the ferry plying between this city and Rhinebeck suspended service at 9 o'clock as it was impossible on account of high water to get motor vehicles on and off the ferry. The ferry was expected to resume trips as soon as the flood waters subsided.

Wednesday there was a high tide in the Rondout creek which flooded the lower end of the Island Dock, and the heavy rain which started falling late Wednesday afternoon and continued throughout the night caused the water in the creek to rise to flood heights. Early this morning the rising water began creeping over the docks along the creek front and soon the docks were hidden under two to three feet of water.

The water kept rising and from the dock alongside the ferry slip began creeping over Ferry street and into East Strand until in front of the coal office of Watts & Tammany, opposite the ferry shed, the street and sidewalk were covered to a depth of two feet.

The water also crept up into the lower end of the Singer service station, but at the time this was written it has not risen high enough to flood the gas station.

The water was so deep that it was deemed wise to suspend the bus service on the Hasbrouck avenue line to the Ponckhockie section and that section of the city was without service until the flood subsided.

From the coal office of Watts & Tammany down to the former Ulster & Delaware Railroad shops the flood covered the street and sidewalk to a depth of over two or three feet. Several automobiles that attempted to run through the rising water became stalled and were abandoned by the drivers until the water had gone down.

Along North street and Delaware avenue where there is swampy ground the water arose spreading over the pavement of the street.

Part of Hurley Ave. Flooded
Word was received at police headquarters shortly before 10 o'clock this morning that Hurley avenue in front of the Cohen farm was under two feet of water.

Highest Water in Years
The high water in the Rondout creek was the highest in some years. Residents and business men of the Strand recall that when the trolley cars were running some years ago that flood condition existed in the Rondout creek and the water arose to such heights that all trolley service to Ponckhockie was suspended. The water also flooded the Strand at Hasbrouck avenue and it was possible to row a small boat on the street, so deep was the water.

Man Hole Covers Raised
Along East Strand where the street was somewhat low, the rising water raised the covers from the manholes connecting with the sewer that empties into the Rondout Creek.

Cellars Flooded
Along Ferry street and the Strand the cellars of the stores were flooded by the high water.

In front of the Suskind grocery store on East Strand in Ponckhockie the water was from two to three feet in depth. His store cellar was flooded as well as the cellars of adjoining buildings.

Rowing on the Strand
This morning the water was "so deep in front of the Watts & Tammany coal office that men were enjoining the unusual experience of rowing up to the door of the coal office and the door of adjoining buildings in rowboats.

Popped Off Street
As auto and other traffic could not get through the Strand was roped off until the water went down.

William Terry, a negro who was reported as acting queerly was arrested Wednesday night on a technical charge of disorderly conduct. He was committed to the county jail for 10 days when it is expected he will be given a mental examination by physicians.

Britain Will Press For Debt Adjustment

London, Nov. 10 (AP)—The British government officially voiced the opinion today that the drastic reduction in reparations recently agreed on in Europe "should now become possible" while the press generally speculated on the effect of the American election on war debts.

The official expression came from Stanley Baldwin of the British cabinet, speaking before the Lord Mayor's banquet last night in place of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald. Mr. Baldwin said:

"It is essential to the world that ratification of the Lausanne settlements on reparations should now become possible, and the work begun there should be completed."

"The gentlemen's agreement" at Lausanne last summer provided that the accord cutting Germany's war reparations payments to a bonded $114,000,000, must depend on a lenient attitude by creditor nations. The United States is the chief creditor nation.

Mr. Baldwin said he wished the Lausanne reparations success had been evident at the Geneva Disarmament Conference, and declared the time had come when Great Britain could proceed no longer with unilateral disarmament.

Proper Preparation Of Christmas Mail

The proper preparation of Christmas mail is a matter of importance to the shipper and the person for whom it is intended, and the Post Office Department again urges the public to ship and mail early and to prepare the Christmas mail in a way that will avoid delay.

The Post Office Department has announced that it desires all Christmas mail to be delivered by midnight, Saturday, Christmas Eve, and that all postal employees who can be spared shall have the opportunity to spend Christmas and the day following with their families. Christmas is one of the seven national holidays observed by the post office, and the practice of arranging work so that the postal employees may spend the day with their families, which was inaugurated several years ago, meets with general approval.

In accordance with that custom, all work in post offices will be suspended from 12 o'clock midnight, Saturday, December 24, to 12 o'clock midnight, Monday, December 25. When a national holiday, such as Christmas, falls on Sunday, it is customary for the post office department, as well as all other national, state and local governmental agencies, to observe it on the following day.

Special Delivery and Perishable Mail
Special delivery and perishable mail must be handled and delivered promptly upon receipt in order that there be no failure of service in any instance. There will remain on duty on Christmas day and the next day only a sufficient number of employees to meet the regular holiday collections and dispatches of first class mail and daily newspapers and to receive and store, but not work, incoming mail and deliver the special delivery mail as stated.

Early mailing and the handling, distribution and delivery of all mail promptly as received are the greatest factors in handling successfully the holiday mails. Each year the public cooperates with the post office department in the Christmas program so that Christmas letters, cards and parcels will be received and delivered before Christmas. Last year, parcel post mail was delivered until nearly midnight Christmas eve, so that all Christmas parcels that arrived in Kingston during that day or evening were delivered. In addition, carriers were not started on their last delivery of the day on December 24 until the early afternoon mails had been received.

Proper Postage Policy.
One way to guard against delay is to prepare postage fully. The rates are as follows:
First class—Letters and written and sealed matter, 3 cents for each ounce; government postal cards, 1 cent each; private mailing or post cards, including greeting cards in this form, 1 cent each.
Air mail—5 cents for the first ounce and 15 cents for each additional ounce or fraction thereof.
Second class—Newspapers, magazines and other periodicals containing matter of general news or interest, 1 cent for each 3 ounces or fraction thereof, except when the postage at the rate suggested for fourth class mail is lower, in which case the latter rates shall apply.

Third class (limit 8 ounces)—Circulars and other miscellaneous matter, also merchandise, 1½ cents for each 2 ounces; books (including catalogues or 24 pages or more, seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots, sections and plants, 1 cent for each 2 ounces; bulk lots of identical pieces of third class matter may be mailed at special rates under conditions which may be obtained from the postmaster.

Fourth class—(over 8 ounces). Merchandise, books, printed matter and all other mailable matter not in first, second or third class.

Zone	First lb.	Additional lbs.
Local	7	1 cent each 2 lbs.
1 and 2	8	1.1 cents each lb.
3	9	2 cents each lb.
4	10	2.5 cents each lb.
5	11	3 cents each lb.
6	12	3.5 cents each lb.
7	14	4 cents each lb.
8	15	11 cents each lb.

A fraction of a cent in the total postage on any parcel is counted as a full cent.

Exceptions to the foregoing rates are as follows:

(a) In the first or second zone, where distance by shortest practicable mail route is 300 miles or more, the rate is 5 cents for the first pound and 2 cents each additional pound.

(b) On parcels collected on rural routes, the postage is 2 cents less per parcel than at rates in table when for local delivery and 3 cents less per parcel when for other than local delivery.

(c) Parcels weighing less than 10 pounds, but exceeding 84 inches in length and girth combined, are subject to 10 pound rate.
Parcels may not exceed 100 inches in length and girth combined. The limit of weight of fourth class or parcel post matter is 70 pounds for all zones, except certain places in the Philippine Islands.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

A Nose Remembrance

Turin, Italy.—Premier Mussolini has a long memory.

While he was visiting here a priest stopped up to him, and to the astonishment of Il Duce's entourage, said to the premier:

"I am cold. Give me a blanket."

A smile broke slowly over Mussolini's face. He grasped the churchman's hand and to the added perplexity of his attendants, answered:

"I was indeed very cold."

The priest's words had taken him back 15 years to the time when Corp. Benito Mussolini, badly wounded, found a friend in this same Don Bernardo Chiari. It was Mussolini then who said: "I am cold. Bring me a blanket."

"I am very glad to see you again," said the Duce this time to Don Bernardo. "You did bring me the blanket and I did very much need it."

Good Luck, Sammie

Charlottesville, Pa.—Sammie Ditt, who is an experienced trapper though he's only eleven, hopes this winter, if they aren't it means war, for he is the sole support of his crippled father, his mother, four brothers and four sisters. Sammie was born the night his father suffered a broken back in a mine accident. And there's been precious little time for play in his life. Last winter he earned $632. "It's a funny way to make a living," says he, "but we get along all right."

Tattooed Innocent

La Spezia, Italy.—Raffaele Galante, accused of illegally altering a marriage license, spent his time in his cell doing tattoo work.

When he stepped into the court, the judge was astonished to see, tattooed on Galante's forehead the words:

"I am innocent. Those who accuse me are villains."

This new way of pleading not guilty failed to impress the judge, who imposed a stiff sentence.

Why Blaise Is Democrat

Cleveland.—James A. Farley, who besides managing presidential campaigns, is a New York stage boxing commentator, is "one small guy," says Johnny Blaise, the heavyweight fighter. Empty Your Gall Bladder

And You'll Feel Like a Million Dollars!

Emptying the gall bladder, the most important organ of the digestive system, is the first step toward securing permanent relief from gall bladder troubles. The gall bladder is a small sac-like organ, situated just below the liver, which stores and concentrates the bile secreted by the liver. When the gall bladder becomes inflamed or infected, it causes a great deal of suffering and discomfort. The only way to get rid of gall bladder troubles is to empty the gall bladder of its contents. This can be done by using a special medicine called "Gall Bladder Emptying Tablets." These tablets work by stimulating the gall bladder to contract and empty itself of its contents. The result is a feeling of relief and well-being. "Gall Bladder Emptying Tablets" are available at all drug stores.

Like rolling off a log

It's the easiest thing in the world to see why Feen-a-mint is such an all-round satisfactory laxative. It's so pleasant to take, for one thing. Just a delicious piece of gum that even children like. And the very fact that you chew it makes off the laxative work every time. That makes it thorough yet gentle in action because the laxative is evenly distributed throughout the digestive tract. Safe, non-habit-forming, economical. At all drug stores.

Machines That Are Almost Human

By E. C. TAYLOR

The Great Brass Brain
 THE office of the United States coast and geodetic survey in Washington is a "thinking machine" that in seven hours does the work of fifty to one hundred mathematicians working continuously for a year.

It is called the Great Brass Brain by seamen. Its task is to predict the tide for 4,500 ports of the world, and it predicts these tides for a year ahead, in less than an average working day for man.

The Great Brass Brain does this work with absolute accuracy; its mechanical computations are rapidly completed without the possibility of error to which human computers would be subject.

This marvel of scientific achievement stands six feet high. It is eleven feet long and two feet wide. Upon this labor-saving device depends the safety of American shipping throughout the world.

In figuring out tides for a year in advance, thirty-seven factors enter into each computation. The tide rises and falls 1,400 times a year at any given place on the earth. The Great Brass Brain not only figures them out, but in its calculations it provides against all variations, such as spring tides and neap tides, and tells the extra height to which the water may be expected to rise or fall.

Once each year, when the United States coast and geodetic survey prepares to issue its annual guide for mariners, the wheels of the Great Brass Brain are set in motion, and before the day is ended there is ready for the printing press the most exact information as to how the tides will perform during the coming year in 800 principal ports of the world and 3,500 secondary ports.

The result of the Great Brass Brain's work gives mariners all the information about tides that they could require for a year to come, and keeps many a vessel from becoming stranded on a shoal because of low water as it seeks for port.

The Great Brass Brain can delve a hundred years into the future, or go back centuries into the past if called upon, and accurately answer any mathematical question concerning those future or ancient times. It can tell exactly how high the tide will be at New York, New Orleans or San Francisco in 2131, or whether there was high tide when the Spanish Armada set forth to conquer the world.

One of the household legends of American history recently was blasted by the Great Brass Brain. Historians of the American Revolution generally accepted the legend that tides held back the British army long enough to give Paul Revere a chance to complete his thrilling ride, on which he called the Minute Men to arms and made it possible for the American colonists to launch their war for independence.

Seafarers after exact facts failed to find any documentary evidence to substantiate the legend that the waters of the sea helped Paul Revere, and that small phase of American history became clouded with doubt.

So the Great Brass Brain was consulted. It was asked whether the British army, that left Boston at eleven o'clock that historic night, and crossed to East Cambridge, Mass., were held there until two o'clock in the morning because the tide was against them and they could not continue their march against the colonists.

Even Henry W. Longfellow's poem, "The Ride of Paul Revere," contained this legend. Did Providence take a hand? Historians wanted to know.

The Great Brass Brain quickly disposed of the myth. Providence didn't help Paul Revere at all, the "thinking machine" proved. The machine's wheels whirled, and out came the answer that instead of the tides retarding the British army, they were most favorable for their continued advance on to Concord between eleven o'clock that night and two o'clock the next morning.

Indian Run Medicine Man
 The tribal medicine man has been condemned by one Indian organization in Alaska. The Alaska Native Brotherhood, in session at Ketchikan, adopted resolutions against fortune tellers and all sorts of witchcraft as practiced by Indians anywhere. The resolutions adopted follow:

"Whereas, the Alaska Native Brotherhood opposes the practice of all old customs, which are false and injure our people, we affirm at this time that the alleged profession of Indian doctors, medicine men, without and fortune telling are pure fakes;

"Be it ordered by this convention that it shall be unlawful for any member of the brotherhood to visit such fakers, even for fun or curiosity."

"Peace City" Riot Takes Eleven Lives

Geneva, Nov. 10 (AP).—The tragedy of a fatal riot echoed through the "city of peace" today after a company of young recruits had turned machine guns on a hating crowd, killing eleven men and wounding 70 persons. The angry mob killed one soldier.

The disturbance came last night as the climax of weeks of bitter political agitation between Socialists and local Geneva government.

It began in front of Community Hall where an anti-Socialist political meeting was being held. When the hall became full, the Genardes closed the doors, but the crowd broke through.

Sending trouble, authorities ordered the young troops which previously had been called from Lausanne, to march to the scene. As soon as they appeared the crowd began blowing and calling them "children's troops." Suddenly there came a burst of machine-gun fire. Part of the crowd thought blanks were being discharged, but others clamped to the pavement, dead and wounded. Among them was a child whose jaw was shot away.

LIGHTS of NEW YORK

One of the most interesting women in New York is Belle Irsels Moskowitz. With her, sociologist, politician, public relations counselor, and economist and adviser of Alfred E. Smith. Mrs. Moskowitz is a native New Yorker who early became interested in social service work and women's clubs. Once an anti-suffragette, she has become one of the most powerful women politicians of the city.

It was through her interest in a woman's club that she met Governor Smith, whom she escorted, a rather unwilling captive, to make a speech before her organization. Impressed by her knowledge of social and political matters, he kept in touch with her, and appointed her to the state reconstruction commission. Later she was a member of such bodies as the governor's labor board, and the Committee of Women on National Defense.

Tremendously alive, quick-witted, capable of sustained mental and physical effort, with an alert sense of humor, Belle Irsels Moskowitz is a shrewd publicist, capable of superb diplomacy, and a fine showman. This latter quality may partially result from a short experience as an actress. She is one woman who has had a real influence on the course of state and national affairs.

The Yale football team of 1902 had some pretty husky men on it. In the forward line were Holt, Goss, Goss, Hogan, Kinsley, Shevlin and Rafferty. Walter Camp picked the lot of them for first-string all-America, with the exception of Goss and Rafferty. Goss made only the second all-America that season, and Rafferty didn't make the mythical eleven until the following year. The ball carriers were Chadwick, all-America, and Metcalf and Rowman, second all-America. Between the forwards and the pigskin toters stood the quarterback, another all-America, a small bundle of dynamite with fire on the upper end in the shape of red hair. With command, which sounded as sharp as the bark of a ferret, he bossed those giant linemen and those plunging and darting backs, driving them to victory and to glory. His name was Foster Rockwell, field general of one of the greatest teams football ever knew.

Della J. Akeley tells me a story of a fair-sized town in Africa. An English resident was robbed one night, the thief entering and leaving the house silently and cleverly and taking nothing except money. A native who had passed the house during the night heard of the robbery and reported that he had seen a bicycle parked in the road. He had stopped a moment to look at it and remembered the license number. The police traced the bicycle to the town jailer, who also was a native. Investigation disclosed that the jailer nightly had been releasing an expert thief from the jail, who would take the bicycle, load his stuff, and then return to be locked up and split with the jailer.

Some time ago, a set of questions were asked the members of the Boys' club of New York. The answers indicated that the average Elmer adolescent is interested in baseball, but has so little chance to play it that he is turning to basketball. That is one reason many big league ball players come from country towns, where there still is plenty of land for a baseball field.

Other things discovered by the questionnaire were that the East side boy's great ambition is to become an aviator or an engineer. That is what planes constantly flying over Manhattan have accomplished. The boys picked Lindbergh as their favorite hero. In their choice of books, mystery stories and adventure stories lead aviation tales. Just as the golfer would rather play than read of golf, so these would-be aviators long to fly rather than to read of flying.

Forget the Change
Chicago.—When William Jordan was sent out from a cafe to get change for a $20 bill some weeks ago he forgot to return. The cashier, Francine Muccia, remembered his face when she saw him later, however, and Jordan was given 30 days in jail.

Seek Spot Where Peter Was Buried
Rome.—Archaeologists of Vatican City believe that they are about to discover the exact spot where St. Peter was buried.

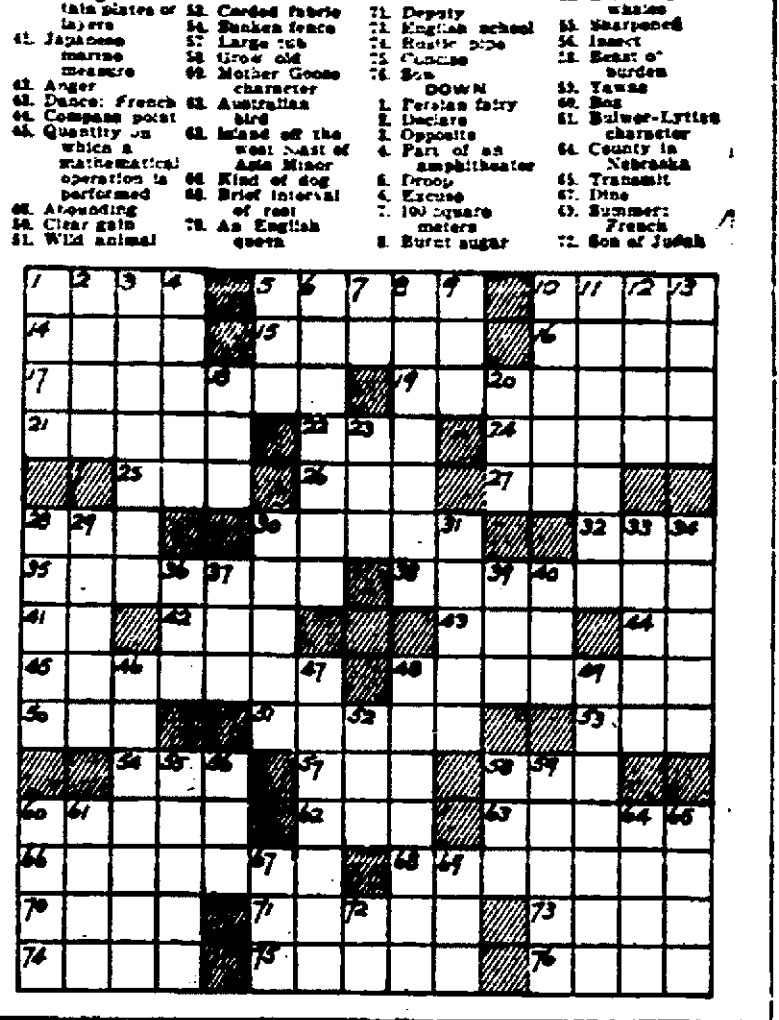

The promise of this important discovery in Christian archeology was occasioned by the fact that stretches of the original "Via Triumphalis" (Triumphal Way) of the Romans has been uncovered 40 feet below the present street level. It was known that St. Peter was buried along this ancient Roman road.

These archeologists began a thorough research into papal records and, comparing the present discoveries, they came to the conclusion that "Via Triumphalis" cut through the present square of St. Peter's. The great cathedral of St. Peter was thought to be located on the spot where the prince of the apostles was crucified.

PEOPLES STORES ARE CELEBRATING 50TH YEAR
To grow from one small shop to a chain of forty stores is an achievement worthy of praise. Back in 1883, H. H. Butler opened his first store in Troy, N. Y., a modest little shop with a handful of wearing apparel. Today, Mr. Butler heads a large chain of forty stores, of which a branch is located in this city at 291 Wall Street. This week marks the 50th anniversary of this company, which is being fittingly celebrated with a 50th anniversary sale. The store managers have been given unusual authority to reduce prices in keeping with the policy to offer most attractive values for this event. Every store in the chain is chock full of fall and winter garments, consisting of new styles recently purchased especially for this event. The public is cordially invited.

Source Lathrop Alleged to Be Most Frequent of All Husbands.

Chicago.—The most frequent husband of them all is alleged to be one Charles V. Towner, forty, one of whom eight wives changed him with desertion. Mrs. Betty Murdoch, who was No. 7 on Charles's imposing list is the complainant.

To Betty, Tim Dwyer, Betty described her "husband" as an "elegant dresser," an expert dancer, and a handsome philosopher with an unending way with women.

Since Charles deserted her July 9, 1922, to pass on to his next temporary mate, Betty has devoted herself to detective work, and has seen or commented on the seven other wives, or co-wives, of the alleged bigamist.

May Be Many More.

Though there is grave suspicion and a little evidence that Charles has victimized a good many other women, the list compiled by Betty, a pretty divorcee, apparently gives her "husband" the all-time record for marrying. It follows:

1. Married Betty Hearn, who lived in the 1300 block on East Fifty-fifth street, on November 7, 1915. They have a fifteen-year-old boy. He soon left her, and she divorced him October 10, 1927.
2. Married Frieda Polognet of St. Louis on July 28, 1922, and left her in a couple of months. She got a divorce in 1923.
3. Married Eva Turkis, of Chicago's North Side, on October 20, 1920. He left her soon after the birth of their daughter, now ten. Divorced in 1928.
4. Married Caroline Ziegler on August 15, 1923, in Holy Name cathedral. He died shortly and she won her freedom in 1928.
5. Married Addie Grant of 4324 Lake Park avenue, on February 21, 1925. With Addie he remained connected longer than with any other; he did not walk out until 1931. No divorce.
6. Married Josephine Satkiss at 2610 Emerald avenue on August 3, 1931. She is looking for Charles, also, because they have a nine-month-old son.

No Makes an Error.

7. Married Mrs. Murdoch in Crown Point, Ind., on September 2, 1931. He left her on July 9, 1932, which, it develops, was a technical error for Charles. Because Betty bids fair to become his ninth.

8. Married Lee Rieher, 4050 Washington boulevard, also in Crown Point, on the day he abandoned Mrs. Murdoch.

Less than two months after the last marriage, on August 30, 1932, Charles was on his way again, taking Lee's three diamond rings, wrist watch and $60. That was another habit of Charles, his "wives" say; he apparently managed a neat net profit on each of his marital deals.

When Betty and Lee got together to talk over their trouble, they opened a mysterious case which Charles had always carefully guarded—and out dropped a flock of pictures. Each, naturally, was of a beautiful girl. One was "Daisy Towner." Another wife! A second was Bernadine Pitt of St. Louis; a third, Peggy, of El Dorado, Ill. And so on.

INSPECTION OF POST OFFICE SCALES FINISHED

The second annual inspection of the scale equipment at the main post office and two stations in this city which has been in progress for several days has been completed by Charles W. Sanger, an inspector of weighing equipment of the Post Office Department. The scales were found to weigh correctly.

The scales that were tested ranged all the way from the quarter-ton platform scales to the delicate letter scales. The official weights of the city of Kingston were used in testing the platform scales.

One of the numerous activities of the Post Office Department is the perfecting of weighing equipment, and constant supervision is exercised in order that scales shall show correct weights.

Wonderful Gulf Stream

A thousand Mississippi rivers, if they were long enough, would be required to equal the Gulf stream in volume of water, according to Boy's Life, the monthly magazine of the Boy Scouts of America. Statistics of the bureau of standards show that 14 cubic miles of water flow past any point every hour in that warm ocean current.

PLEATED SKIRT By CHERRY NICHOLAS

In Paris there is a decided movement in the direction of pleated skirts for formal evening dresses. The thought back of this trend is to use soft supple materials and the slightly sunburst silhouette is favored instead of straight up-and-down lines. The dress here shown is of violet colored dull-surfaced crepe, and it has the new slashed sleeve and the back-bow treatment which so frequently is employed in connection with the latest low-cut décolletage.

NO MORE TEARS

MRS. HOFFMAN when her baby was born, within a year she had a serious operation. Then the doctor told her to stop crying. She cried over nothing at all. It was an unhappy household. Her grandmother told her about the famous Vegetable Compound. That's how old and trusted a remedy it is! "I have taken six bottles," she says, "with marvelous results and I am thankful for my increasing health."

GRAY TO BE SMART FOR WINTER WEAR

There is increasing talk of gray and of how smart it is to be this winter. This is good news to those who like the color and love to wear it. So far, however, it remains in the "high fashion" class rather than in that of the so-called popular colors. Gray is never a color to be worn generally, as a matter of fact. It is not particularly becoming to all women, and not always very practical. But it is a very exquisite color for those who can wear it in the right way.

Wearing it the right way means wearing it with the absolutely perfect accessories, for it is easier to spoil a gray costume, it seems to me, than one of any other color. For one thing, gray must be decidedly elegant or it has no character. And everything that goes with it must be in keeping. If accessories are to match, they should match perfectly, or be of a shade enough darker so that the difference will be recognizable and not just look like an off-color.

Paris Still Clings to Navy Blue Jersey Suit

No matter what styles come or go, Paris never seems to give up its fondness for navy blue jersey suits. In seasons where red and brown are liked as the only smart colors, and when satin or velvet are the talked-of fabrics, fashionable dressmakers continue to make classic sports-tailored suits of navy jersey, and smartly dressed women continue to wear them.

1932 is no exception—and prophesies for 1933 fashions all include this favorite type of costume. The current version is perhaps a bit less severe than suits of former years; it may be worn with more striking accessories, but its general principles differ little from the suits of other times.

Contrasting Furs

Dark fur is generally used on bright colored coats, both dark and light pelts are used on dark wools and black fur is most often used on black, although these rules are all violated from time to time.

Nippy Jacquette

One of the prettiest things brought out recently is this little jacquette of broadtail. With its close collar and caplet sleeves it converts the wool frock into a smart ensemble.

Business Girls Had Fellowship Night

Wednesday night at the Y. W. C. A. was World Fellowship Night and a varied program for the girls of the city. Each girl came wearing a brooch of one of the countries in which are located organizations of the Y. W. C. A. and great fun was had by all in seeing the different brooches, some of which were very novel in their conception. Special world fellowship games were arranged for the occasion, and kept the girls busy passing how to draw the map of the world and name the many countries in which the association is found. Mrs. Phillips, the president, announced the various classes in handwork, embroidery and sewing, and said the program for the next supper meeting would be in charge of Miss Beatrice Pooley. Miss Pooley's program was not announced but an amusing and entertaining evening is promised. Mrs. Howard A. Lewis was the special guest of honor for the evening.

HIGH FALLS

High Falls, Nov. 10.—The Rev. and Mrs. Herman Hakeman of Claverack spent Tuesday here, calling upon friends and dining at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Snyder. Mrs. Martha Sholey is confined to her home for a few days. She is not feeling well. Mrs. Ed Dyer called at the home of Mrs. Mary Beach on Tuesday. Charles Marlin returned to New York city immediately after voting in High Falls. He is to deliver an address before the Faculty of the City of New York tonight on the topic "A Modern Theory of Acids and Bases."

The Lion's Share

The expression, "the lion's share," is an allusion to one of Aesop's fables, in which the lion is represented as claiming all the spoils, although he has been assisted in the hunt by a number of other beasts. He demands one-quarter as his own special prerogative; one-quarter for his superior strength; one-quarter for his courage; and as for the remaining quarter, he denies anyone to dispute its possession with him.

Read This About High Blood Pressure

It's a True Story That Broadminded Men Will Read

Edward Shapiro of Brooklyn, N. Y., on Oct. 21, 1931, wrote this wonderful and instructive letter without solicitation—no matter of fact we are not acquainted with Mr. Shapiro and did not know that he had been taking Krunchon Salts.

"I have repeatedly read your advertisement in the newspapers. I have one to offer which goes them all one better. On August 21, 1931, my physical condition forced me to seek medical aid. After being alarmed by a local physician I sought and found a doctor who rates one of the leading reputations in Hudson County.

"On above date I weighed 242 lbs., only 5 ft. 4 1/2 inches in height. Also an advanced cardiac (heart) condition blood pressure 170. Only 36 years of age.

"After a thorough examination by this doctor he instructed me thusly.

"One Teaspoonful of Krunchon Salts in warm water every morning with a diet very similar to the one enclosed in your little package.

"This morning Oct. 21, 1931, less than two months, I have lost 44 lbs. My present weight 198 lbs. Blood pressure today 120 (normal). Mind you no other medication, just the salts and diet. I feel better than I've felt in years and am told I look many years younger.

Presents Documents To Senate House

The trustees of the Senate House Association have received from Mrs. Harry Van Gansbeck, President of the Board of Trustees of the Senate House Association, a collection of documents relating to the early history of Kingston which have been in the possession of the Van Gansbeck family for two and one-half centuries. In her letter to Judge Chamberlain, President of the Board of Trustees of the Senate House Association, Mrs. Van Gansbeck says: "I know of no more appropriate place for the retention and exhibition of these documents than the Senate House and no better custodian than the trustees of the Senate House Association of which you are the president."

HUDSON BAY PORT HANGED BLACK EYE

Fear City of Churchill Will Be White Elephant.

Ottawa, Ont.—When a grain-laden vessel struck its nose against an iceberg in Hudson straits and went to the bottom recently, America's most northerly seaport, Port Churchill on Hudson bay, received a black eye. Canada had gambled to the extent of $54,000,000 on the navigability of her subarctic water route, and the Dominion government had just succeeded in convincing the shipping insurance underwriters that no special dangers attached to the Hudson bay water route and that they could cut insurance rates materially.

The whole Hudson bay railway venture, together with its costly terminal and port facilities, is generally regarded by politically versed Canadians as a white elephant born of political exigencies.

Both Parties Responsible.

The Canadian middle west had wanted a Hudson bay railway and port for decades and a few years ago when the political balance as between Liberals and Conservatives was finely proportioned both parties vied with each other in their support of the demand. Thirty or forty political constituencies west of the head of the lakes would throw their support to the party most strongly advocating construction of the railway.

Present-day responsibility rests evenly upon both Canadian political parties, for both, alternately in power, pushed the project to completion. There was a $8,000,000 blunder connected with the earlier selection of Port Nelson as the railway terminus. Charles Dunning, as minister of railways in the old Mackenzie King government, found that the peculiar nature of the sub-soil at this point precluded successful dredging, so with $8,000,000 already spent trying to develop Port Nelson, this site was abandoned for Churchill.

Has Fair First Year.

Government statistics for the present grain shipping season show that the new port of Churchill has been active to the extent of 1,367,713 bushels of grain shipped out. This looks fairly impressive for its first year of operation alongside of Montreal's 10,814,072 and Vancouver's 4,710,208 bushels. But it does not constitute a fair commercial comparison, for the government in its efforts to establish Churchill, has been carrying the grain free of elevator and other usually incidental costs at the new port. About six European freighters, each taking away about 250,000 bushels, have called at Churchill this year and taken out grain cargoes.

"Theory" and "Truth"

Theory is a body of the fundamental principles underlying any science or application of a science; a mental plan or scheme framed to agree with the observed facts and designed as a rational explanation of them. Truth is a statement of belief which represents or conforms to reality; a law or principle established by correct reasoning; an established fact; a theory that has been established through experiment and observation; a theory having a high degree of probability.

Here's Burial Place

In 1818 Commodore Perry was sent with a small squadron to the West Indies to protect American commerce against pirates. He contracted yellow fever and died on his thirty-fourth birthday, August 23, 1819. He was buried with military honors at Port of Spain, Trinidad, but in 1928, by a resolution of congress, his body was removed to the sloop of war Lexington and re-interred at Newport. The state of Rhode Island erected a monument to him.

A Certain Match

By QUEENMA POLLACK

SHIRLEY VAN DORN shifted gears, and scurried back to her driver's seat to survey the surrounding country with a frown.

"Don't take it too fast, dear," advised Aunt Victoria, who had been her guardian since her own mother had died ten years before.

"But I can't crawl," protested Shirley.

"You'll be tired by the time we reach Gardner's, dear, and week-end parties usually have strenuous athletic programs," began Aunt Victoria.

"Do you suppose I shall like anyone there?" interrupted Shirley. "If someone Tom Manley attracts himself to me, I warn you, Auntie, I'll fly home."

"You know," Victoria Brownlee started, indignantly, "Mrs. Gardner whispered at dinner the other night that she expected Ted Farnes, the shipbuilder's son, if he returned in time. You've never met him, Shirley, and you know he's quite the catch of the season."

Helplessly, Shirley laughed. Wasn't it bad enough to have to listen to dull conversation of the usual sort, she thought, without having to be bored by another youth returned from Europe and his tourist impressions?

"Dear, I'm thirsty," put in Aunt Victoria, "can't we stop at the next spring?"

"Yes, of course, and let's trust that it will cool my indignation about hasty and plotted marriages," Shirley answered firmly.

Shirley drew up by the side of the road and told her aunt to wait in the car while she brought a cooling drink to her. Crossing a road in the spring, she narrowly escaped being run down by a dusty blue car that flew with powerful speed from out a side road.

A mild looking youth in drab hiking costume pulled Shirley to the other side of the road, and encircled her shoulder with a stalwart arm to steady her.

"Oh, thank you," Shirley said dutifully. "You know, America might have lost one of her rashest daughters if you hadn't jerked me aside in time."

"And one of her prettiest, too, I venture," the youth added, with a wide winning smile.

"Tough," replied Shirley in her contemptuous manner for flattery. "But I started across this road to get my aunt a drink. Now I see no cups."

"If I may oblige you," said her companion, proffering a cup from a camping outfit. "I'll risk crossing the road this time for your aunt."

"No," she countered hastily, noting the disapproval on her relative's face at this prolonged conversation.

She bent over to fill the cup with glistening cool water, and thought her rudeness to the man who had saved her life was unworthy of her real feelings.

"Here," he said, masterfully. "Let me at least fill the cup for you, Miss . . ."

"My name is Shirley Sumner. And yours?" she said evading the question. "Timothy Torrence," he replied, suppressing a smile. She did not know whether he was smiling over her name or his own.

"Well, goodbye and thank you for my life, which I do not value very much these days," she said, attempting to disarm further talk.

"Good-by," he said equally unperturbed. "I hope to have the good fortune to rescue you some other time."

Shirley ran back to the car without a backward glance. Strangely, her aunt was smiling, and not at all impatient. As she jumped into the driver's seat, she thought guiltily that she might offer to drive her rescuer as far along the main road as she was to travel.

Her aunt voiced the same thought, which surprised Shirley. When she called the invitation, he accepted with alacrity.

"This is my aunt, Mrs. Brownlee, and this is Mr. Timothy Torrence," introduced Shirley. "Climb in and keep each other company. I'm driving as fast as I can to the Gardner estate at Langhorn road. If you want to stop before then please signal me."

Once again she shifted gears, but this time not forward in her driver's seat, tense. Faster and faster, she found herself flying toward Langhorn road. She could not hear conversation in the rear of the car, but did hear low laughter. What a sudden and strange camaraderie for staid Aunt Victoria! As there was no call for her to stop, Shirley thought her passenger was going past Gardner's. She stopped the car, almost wilted with the rush.

"We're late already, Shirley," said Aunt Victoria as she emerged from the car on the Torrence boy's arm. "Perhaps it will save embarrassment later if I introduce you to Ted Farnes right here. Shirley Van Dorn is her right name."

Bewildered, Shirley stared from one to another, and then surveyed their smiles with one of her own.

"Oh, I recognized her," countered the smiling, brown-eyed traveler of intelligence. And once again, a stalwart arm encircled her shoulder and she knew she would be saved from the danger of embarrassment.

Local Death Record

The funeral of Michael Zelasky will be held Friday instead of Saturday with a Mass of requiem for the repose of his soul at 2:30 a. m. in St. Peter's Church. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery. His remains may be viewed at the E. A. Kelly funeral chapel, 45 West Union street.

Julia E. Toth Knoll, wife of William H. Knoll, died at her home in Ulster Park after an illness of seven months which she bore with Christian fortitude. She was a wonderful woman to bear as she did the terrible suffering with a cheery smile and to keep in touch with everything up to the last. When in health she was a cheerful woman, kind neighbor and a loving wife and mother. She leaves her husband and two children, Beatrice and Catherine, her parents and one brother. Funeral at the Funeral Home of Ernest A. Kelly, 111 West Chester street, Sunday at 2 p. m.

The funeral of George J. Mattman, who died at his home in Rosendale Saturday, was held from his late residence Wednesday at 3:30 a. m. at St. Peter's Church at 10 o'clock, when a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. Frank M. O'Reilly. The choir sang the responses and at the conclusion of the Mass sang "My God, My Father While I Stray," and as the remains were borne from the church sang "Jesus, Jesus, Come to Me." The floral offerings were numerous and very beautiful, which testified to the high esteem in which the deceased was held. Father O'Reilly accompanied the large funeral cortege to St. Peter's Cemetery and gave the final absolution as the remains were laid to rest in the family plot. The bearers were John McKeon, John O'Leary, Harry Weep, Bartley Joyce, Patrick Kelly and William Delaney.

LeGrand B. Hotelling of 167 Abell street died this morning after a prolonged illness. Born in Connolly, Mr. Hotelling came to Kingston 23 years ago. During his residence here, and prior to his illness which necessitated his leaving a retired life, he was a faithful, trusted and valued employee of the U. & D. R. R. Co. as blacksmith in their shops on the Strand. A man devoted to his family and one of generous impulses and democratic disposition, he made during his span of life a legion of friends. Mr. Hotelling was a faithful member of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, also an active member of Charles DeWitt Council No. 91, Jr. O. U. A. M. until the time of his illness. In addition to Mrs. L. B. Hotelling, his widow, nee Dorathia Walter; he is survived by a son, Kenneth L., and a daughter, Miriam E., all of this city; his mother, Mrs. Harriet Hotelling, of Connolly; two sisters, Mrs. E. B. Haines of Connolly and Mrs. Wallace Boyce of New York City, and a brother, I. C. Hotelling of Briarcliff. Funeral services to which relatives and friends are invited will be held Saturday afternoon at his residence and interment will be in Montrose cemetery.

Charlotte Ida Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey Jones of Wrentham street, died at the Manhattan General Hospital in New York City on Wednesday night, November 2, following a serious operation performed on Monday, October 31. Miss Jones was born at Margareville, Delaware county, on October 11, 1886. At an early age her parents moved to Newburgh, where she lived until about the age of twelve years, when they removed to Kingston where she has since resided. She was graduated from the Kingston High School in June, 1915, and from the New Paltz Normal in June, 1918. After being graduated from New Paltz she secured a position in the Sixth Street School at Hudson, where she taught for two years. Because of illness she was obliged to relinquish her duties as a teacher and remained at the home of her parents on Wrentham street, until her death. Miss Jones was a genial favorite and will be missed by a host of friends, because of her sunny disposition and her fortitude. She is survived by her parents and one brother, Philip Jones, of Kingston, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Derringer, of Margareville. Her funeral was held from the home of her grandparents at Margareville, Saturday, November 5, at 2 p. m., with the Rev. W. L. Ryan of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church of Kingston, officiating, assisted by the Revs. Chandler and Wood of Margareville. Interment was made in the Margareville Cemetery. The many beautiful floral offerings bespoke the esteem of her many friends.

When Skin Itches

Don't give up or become discouraged—often you get itchy skin when you are busy and busy and cannot get to bed. Your skin is itchy, it is so itchy that you cannot get to bed. Your skin is itchy, it is so itchy that you cannot get to bed.

POULTRY

HENS THRIVE WHEN GIVEN GREEN FEED

Essential Vitamins in the Poultry Ration.

By G. E. MAPPIN, Poultry Extension Specialist, North Carolina State College, WNU Service.

When green feed is added as a supplement to the regular poultry ration, the birds grow better and lay more eggs. All the vitamins essential for growth and health can be made available if a variety of green feed is used. Legumes and the tender green crops of the garden are all rich in vitamins and feed for poultry. Alfalfa, clover, lespedeza, rape, sorghum, lettuce, tender cabbage, collards, kale, and young oats, wheat, barley or rye are some of the crops liked by poultry and valuable to them in developing growth and increasing egg production. We have found that young lettuce, for instance, has cured a run-down condition in hens. Green alfalfa, fed liberally, has been reported as checking the deaths of poultry due to poor feeding. Where the birds are given white corn, they need the food properties found in legumes and other green stuff.

I recommend curing some legume hay for the birds to feed upon in winter. Well-cured alfalfa, clover, or lespedeza hay is very valuable. This hay should be cured bright green in color, with no rain allowed to fall on it during the curing process.

Battery Brooding Not

by Any Means Perfect

Battery brooding has attracted many to broiler production, as very little experience is required in this work. The difficulty with it is that the feathering of the birds so handled is often poor, top market prices being seldom obtained for the broilers for that reason. In addition to poor feathering, the birds have soft meat and the shrinkage in body weight on express shipments is a loss. When birds are to be killed at the farm, battery rearing is desirable, but if live-weight shipments are to be made it should not be followed, according to the New Jersey experiment station. A combination of battery and floor brooding is said to be desirable, as practically all of the advantages of both systems can be utilized. By using the battery brooders for the first four weeks the details of early chick brooding are eliminated, and then the growth is finished on the floor. The heating and feeding of birds after the fourth week in a simple matter compared with the attention these items require during the early period of growth.

Chick Feeding Notes

On fast used for packing eggs in cases make excellent hoppers for chicks during the first week after they are hatched, the uneven surface of the cup fast holding the mash and reducing the amount of waste.

Water fountains for the chicks should be so constructed that they may be easily cleaned and not upset. The most satisfactory fountain for the first ten days is the earthenware bell jar with the flower pot wicker, a type of fountain suitable for 100 chicks. Large metal fountains should be used when the chicks are four weeks old.

The piping of water to the range and the installation of automatic fountains will reduce labor and young stock will be assured of a constant supply of fresh water.—American Agriculturist.

Make Study of Turkeys

Turkeys are a subject for study this year for the first time by the poultry department of the Ohio State university. So great has become the interest in turkey raising in Ohio that the university has started demonstrations in methods of rearing poult and methods of feeding. Three breeds, the Bronze, the White Holland and the Narragansett are represented in the 776 poult now being raised in confinement in permanent brooder houses. The method of rearing is similar in the case of turkeys as with baby chicks, and the confinement system is in vogue on most large turkey farms in Ohio.—Ohio Farmer.

Not Too Much Shade

Some shade is necessary for growing pullets but do not provide too dense a growth, as it keeps the chickens from striking the soil and it will become contaminated. Some poultry men use insulation or straw bales in all their houses. This keeps the houses cool and they furnish shade. On the general farm an apple orchard adjacent to poultry houses make beautiful conditions for the birds and makes the business more enjoyable for the caretaker.—Exchange.

Increasing Egg Production

It is claimed that the extra egg production gained in the winter months when the prices of eggs are higher is not obtained at the expense of production during the spring and summer months, but may be generally considered as additional production. Observations of birds under lights show that an average flock of good capacity responds favorably in lights to seven to ten days. Well-developed pullets may be expected to increase egg production from 20 to 30 per cent.

No Sympathy Coming

Ordinarily our supply of sympathy is particularly unlimited, but it didn't register a single squint when our doctor told us that he had spent two hours in the chair of a brother writer and that his experience was painful in the extreme.—Indianapolis News.

Loop-Year Privilege

Runs Through History

February, besides being the accepted month when it comes to adjusting man's record of time, is also named at times for loop-year customs. Even the matter of women's privilege to propose marriage during loop year has been laid at February's door. But the charge scarcely holds water. The true source of the custom seems to be lost in antiquity, but nearly seventy years ago an English almanac quoted a law said to have been enacted in Scotland in 1228—perhaps it was in February—which said: "Ordon that during ye reign of her most blessed majesty, Margaret, like maiden ladies, of both high and low estate, shall have liberte to speak ye man she likes. Gif he refuse to tak hir to be his wyf, he shall be makir in the sum of one hundred pence, or less."

But while 1228 was loop year, there was no "blessed majesty, Margaret" at the time, for Alexander II, whose wife was Joanna, daughter of English King John, ruled Scotland from 1214 to 1249.

However, France once had such a law, and so did Genoa and Florence in the fifteenth century. England, so far as is known, never had such a statute.

Humble Beginnings of

Sunday School System

The Sunday school, as first established, was, as its name indicates, a school for meeting on Sunday and went beyond the purely religious in its instruction. The first school so established is credited to a resident of Gloucester, England, one Robert Raikes, who regularly on Sunday collected all the children he could find on the streets and took them to his school, where teachers he hired at 25 cents a day taught them. The first school was established in 1780. Its curriculum included letters, reading and the church catechism.

Raikes' school was followed by another in London in 1784, established by a Rowland Hill. These schools were day-long affairs. They usually met at 8 a. m. and continued in session until church services began. At the conclusion of the church service the school work was resumed and continued until 5:30 p. m.

While religious instruction was given to the young on Sundays in the New England colonies, the first regularly organized Sunday school in this country is generally attributed to Bishop Ashbury and was believed to have been located in Hanover, Va.

Wasp Census Taken

How many wasps are there in one nest? To those who have disturbed one of these insect colonies it has seemed a good estimate would be well into the millions. But by actual count less than 500 wasps occupy the same quarters.

In one nest examined by Barbara J. Betz of Johns Hopkins university only 402 of the "touchy" insects were found, including 100 full-grown wasps, their larvae and pupae. Since the count was made in autumn, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, it is believed that the summer population probably would be higher, since the workers begin to die off after the warm months.

Brought in on a cold night the common nest was picked in alcohol for one year before it was taken apart.

The First Printer

Gutenberg, the inventor of movable type, was born about 1400 in Mainz. In 1469 he entered into a partnership with Johannes Faust, also of Mainz, and in that city they established their press and began printing. They first issued a vocabulary, and later a Latin Bible. Gutenberg died about 1468.

The Gutenberg Bible, while not the rarest, is one of the most prized of books. Only 41 copies are known, and of these more than twenty are imperfect. A short time ago a private collector in London purchased at auction a paper copy of the Gutenberg Bible, paying considerably more than $100,000 for it.

Evolution of Sweetmeat

The story of sweetmeat is an interesting one, for it dates back to the very early preserving days. In those days all sorts of fruits and vegetables were placed in the sweetmeat in order to preserve them. Among these were apples, plums and pears. Every day some slice apples and add spices to their sweetmeat in order to secure unusual flavor. Sweetmeat as well as cabbage contains large quantities of vitamin C and is therefore valuable in our diet, and although these early folks who first tried to preserve cabbage did not know this, cabbage has always been considered a wholesome food.

Modern Embalming

Modern science has improved upon the mysterious secret of ancient Egyptian embalmers; mummies discovered 2800 years from now will show our descendants just exactly what we looked like, according to Prof. E. J. Parviz, writing in Science. The new process of embalming utilizes paraffin and, according to Professor Parviz, bodies preserved by the paraffin method do not have the shriveled, dried appearance of Egyptian mummies, but are natural in both form and color. They should not be buried, he believes.—Scientific American.

PENNY THINGS

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

THE little steps of little feet go scuffling here and there; I hear them in the crowded street, I hear them everywhere; And little feet find life a song and youth a time of play. The journey short, however long, with joys along the way. The street an alley, little more, the children are content; They find the windows of a store a land of wonderment. Though stories tell of queens and kings, and silk and lace and ruff, The windows full of penny things are wonderful enough.

I wish that we could go our way as little children, too, And find our pleasure in today, as little children do. They have their dreams as well as ours, their carrels gilt and glass, And yet they pause to pick the daisies that blossom where they pass. However bright the rainbow gleams, how great the pot of gold, The children know that dreams are dreams—but here's a hand to hold, And here's a window and a toy, and here's a top that sings; They never overlook the joy God puts in penny things.

We build our castles in the air, our battlements in Spain, But if we never journey there, the other joys remain. So let us do as children do, who dream of fairyland, And yet who know the pleasure, too, of pleasure close at hand. I hope we never dream so much, as through the world we go, Whatever heights we ever touch, whatever depths we know, We never feel the thrill of yore, the thrill that childhood brings, Before the windows of a store full of penny things!

NEWS FROM THE UNDERTAKER

DOES it make you shiver, and tiny chills run down your spine—that title of "News From the Undertaker"? Usually he is one person we don't want to hear from. But this time his good news.

The news is that his business is bad. And that is not only because people are having less fancy funerals in these leaner days, but fewer people are dying!

We have it from figures of the public health bureau that last year saw a very definite decrease in mortality figures over several previous years. Also that in 1921, which was another "depression year," there was a similar lowered level of deaths!

Considering the existence in many places of actual want and lack of necessities of food and clothing, a lowered death rate in bad times is quite the contrary to what one would expect. And yet this is proved by official government figures.

And the undertakers have undertaken to explain it. To them, they say, the fact is well known that fewer people die during periods of financial depression. And the reason for this is that fewer people are "making whoopee." In addition, with less money people are eating more economically and more sanely, and more often spend quiet evenings at home! Verily—there's a silver lining, then, to this cloud of "bad times."

Obliging Post Office

In London the post office will exercise your dog for you. You merely go to the phone, ring the post office messenger service and in a few minutes a uniformed boy will call to collect. He will see his morning walk in Hyde park. The fee is nominal. The post office also will do marketing for busy housewives. Their messengers are trained to know bargains in foodstuffs and the proper way to select a steak at the butcher's. They execute special orders with amazing efficiency.

Presidential Third Term

Washington declined a third term in his farewell address. Some Americans were offended because they believed John Adams would have liked to have the Presidency changed to a crown. Jefferson thought the danger of personal control so great that he proposed a Constitutional amendment providing for one term of seven years. Several times in the history of the Republic a single term of six years has been proposed. In 1913 this proposal got so far as to be passed by the senate.

Ancient Nutrition Ideas

Skippagot, one of the first advocates of nutrition, thought that boiled cabbage flavored with salt was a specific for colic. Once the Roman emperor who lived about 200 B. C., believed that cabbage should be cooked without salt and it could be used as a panacea for all ailments. The Greeks also thought that horseradish was important to give to nursing mothers so that their babies might be strong and well.

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—The stock market recovered today, but quickly as it declined yesterday. The morning, leading to a sharp rise in the middle of the day, however, and closed off a high note.

American Telephone rose nearly 4 points, and common stock up about 1 point. American Can, Allied Chemical, Santa Fe and New York Central, U. S. Union Pacific gained a couple of points, coincident with the regular $1.50 quarterly dividend. ## POULTRY

NOT HARD MATTER TO PREVENT MOLT

Careful Feeding and Use of Lights Important

By PROF. L. E. WEAVER, New York State College of Agriculture—WATKINS

The molt is an old custom among birds and is adhered to by every avian species. But the molting season is costly to the poultryman unless he can prevent the molt or at least keep it from being a hardship on the birds.

If a pullet lays two or three months prior to the usual molting season, she is likely to follow the example of the older hens and molt, too, and lay no eggs for the five or six weeks' molting period. If the pullet starts to lay just before or during the normal molting season, she will continue to lay. Many poultrymen hatch their chicks late in the season to avoid the molt; but, under those circumstances, the late hatched pullets do not begin to lay full-sized eggs until egg prices start to fall. The early hatched pullets are the ones that lay full-sized eggs when eggs are high-priced and make money for the poultryman, if they do not molt.

Get the pullets to eat all the feed they can, for they will not get too fat. Be sure they have all the dry mash they want at all times; and, as soon as the pullets begin to lay, wet mash can be fed in addition, once a day. If possible, mix the wet mash with milk. For milk helps keep the flock healthy. Lights may be used to give about 13 hours of daylight, starting about two weeks after the pullets are put into laying houses. Plenty of green food, especially cabbage, helps to keep the flock in good condition and to prevent the molt.

Care of Birds Before and After Caponizing

Cockerels can be caponized successfully late in the season if care is taken to handle the birds properly. Not more than 10 or 12 birds should be confined together. They should be kept without feed for 24 hours before the operation. Afterwards they should be given a light feeding of moist mash consisting of bran and ground oats moistened with skim milk. Plenty of clean water should be provided.

A condition known as wind puff is likely to develop a few days after the operation. This is nothing serious and can be ignored for eight to ten days. By this time the incision between the ribs will have healed and if the outer skin is punctured the air will be let in. Capons should be kept in a clean, dry place for a few days after the operation.

Feed for Molting Hens

Hens that are molting should be fed a good laying ration. Cutting down the amount of protein will slow up the growth of feathers and they will not get back to production so soon. If the hens do not get enough protein they will grow feathers at the expense of body weight and then body weight must be built up before they can produce eggs again.

If the birds are losing weight, feed them at noon each day a mixture of equal parts of cornmeal, rolled oats and condensed milk, say Penn State poultry specialists—American Agriculturalist.

Poultry Hints

Poultry measure should be collected from the dropping boards, stored under cover and mixed with dry earth or sand.

To maintain a high level of egg production, it is not necessary to pull more than a third of the birds from a normal flock of chickens during the year.

The best pen of birds in the Illinois egg-laying contest for the month of June was White Leghorns owned by Logan Leghorn Farm, Parnell, Mo. This pen laid 145 eggs.

Average returns on 128 flocks of Ohio poultry last year was 70 cents per bird.

A normal healthy hen will produce about 80 pounds of moist or wet manure in the course of a year, which should convince farmers of the great value of farm flocks.

Each student in the winter short course in poultry at the New York State College of Agriculture is assigned the entire care of a small flock for four weeks of his course.

Green alfalfa, fed liberally, has been recommended for checking the death of poultry due to poor feeding.

Chick litter on the floor every day in the year makes the poultry house more sanitary and helps in keeping the flock healthy.

Culicid turkeys are well fed and have a covering of fat under the skin, they usually sell as undergrades. The same is true if they are full of phlegm even though they may be in fair condition.

Perches on Tail of Plane; Strals Ride

Montreat, Wyo.—It was a thrill while it lasted, but Jerry O'Leary was no more when plane "P-10" crashed on the tail of Bill Monday's plane just before it took off. He hung on while Monday and five passengers rose 1400 feet. Monday landed when an assistant signaled from the ground.

LOCKS UP ABSENT MINDED LOCKSMITH

Cop Catches Him Trying to Pick His Own Lock

Evansville, Ill.—He was captured red-handed, whatever that means. He bent over his task at the door-way of 1712 Sherman avenue, and it was evident that his task was picking the lock. A policeman happened by and the jig was up.

En route to the station the prisoner learned that you cannot talk to a policeman on route to the station because all the policeman will say is: "Tell it to the sergeant."

At the station, then, the prisoner attempted to do so. But Sergeant Kennedy had ears only for the policeman's story and turned to the prisoner with a growl:

"Caught red-handed, hey? Well, what's your name?"

Said the prisoner, severely:

"I am Mr. Joseph Wiedholz, an expert locksmith."

Sergeant Kennedy laughed heartily and replied:

"Glad to know you. I'm Mary Pickford, an old clothes man."

The prisoner wailed indignantly:

"You don't believe me? I'll bet I'm the best locksmith in all Evansville. And I was merely trying to get in."

"I'll say, I'll say. Well, if you're so good at picking locks, try your hand at the one on cell 19 back there. Officer, take him away."

Hours passed, four of them. The prisoner in cell 19 had long since ceased tithering with the lock on his door and had lapsed into sulen silence. Into the station walked Police- man Harry Witt. Said Sergeant Kennedy:

"I gotta good one. The burglar back in cell 19 said he was a locksmith, so I told him to go try to pick that lock. Then I fixed it—I bent it so bad he'll never get out. They can't pull no fast ones on me!"

Witt yawned and remarked:

"That's good. Probably he's all fixed out. I'll have a look."

Five minutes later Witt walked back, grinning, to Sergeant Kennedy.

"Well, maybe you better let that bird go. He's Joseph Wiedholz, a locksmith, and his shop is at 1712 Sherman avenue. Always forgetting his key and having to pick the lock. I know, because I used to work for him."

Which was just what the prisoner had been trying to say.

Millionaire Finds New Riches Source of Worry

Santa Rosa, Calif.—The caretaker of a park here to whom it was said daily revealed that he is the joint heir to an estate estimated at $25,000,000 in Texas, is still tending fowls, keeping the walks clean, and rubbing shoulders with the humanity that surges daily through his park.

George Slaughter, sixty-one, declares he's not so excited about the prospects of his wealth as other people seem to be. Furthermore, he says he's not "a hand to count my chickens before they are hatched."

SPORT SLANTS

By Alan J. Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

Football's eminent statistician and fact-finder, Parke H. Davis, of Easton, Pa., credits Walter Heffelfinger of Yale with being the first guard to pull out of the line and lead the interference. This was back in 1890 and was first used in the Yale-Princeton game played Thanksgiving Day, November 27, 1890.

William H. Lewis of Harvard was the first center that he saw use the roving style of play on defense. Alanzo Stagg, however, stated in his book some years ago that he employed a loose center when he was coaching at Springfield in 1890.

George Woodruff of Pennsylvania is credited with inventing the guards back formation and of using smashing ends with the center backing up the line.

Stagg's Inventions
A. A. Stagg has contributed as many innovations to the game as, if not more than, any other coach. He is given credit for being the first to use, back in 1890, plays with the ends back of the line. He was also one of the first to employ the principle of the shift.

He was one of the first, if not the first, to use the double pass with the forward pass. A few years ago he developed a flanker play and this year he has a very interesting back-field shift that is original with him.

Glenn Warner is credited with first using the crouch start, the clipping block, the single and double wing-back formations and the modern reverse.

Fielding H. Yost has originated many plays that are now commonly used in football. Back in 1901 he used a back in the same way that the "tail-back" is used these days.

He has always used, off and on, the size man line on offense and was the first to devise a simple signaling system. In his book printed back in 1905 he describes a spiral pass which was probably the first publicly given to this type of pass.

Remembers Heffelfinger
In his book on "American Football," A. M. Weyand, captain of West Point's 1915 team, refers to one of the points made by Parke Davis, as follows:

"In the Princeton game, (Yale's) great guard, Heffelfinger, was used to come out of the line to head the interference. In this manner McClung scored four touchdowns and Morrison made a 70-yard run for another."

Ralph D. Paine, the author, was a substitute on the 1890 Yale team. Princeton's captain was Edgar Allan Poe, later attorney-general of the state of Maryland and one of its brothers who made gridiron history with the Tigers.

It was in the same year that Army and Navy played their first game won, easily by the Midshipmen. Army's team, its first, was organized and captained by Dennis Michie who was killed at San Juan Hill in Cuba and in whose memory the present stadium stands at West Point.

National Hockey Opens Tonight

New York, Nov. 10 (AP).—The National Hockey League, opens its 1932-33 season in three cities tonight.

The return of King Winter to the sport world will be hailed in Toronto, where the Maple Leafs clash with the Boston Bruins; in Montreal, when the rebuilt Maroons entertain the New York Rangers; and in Detroit where the Red Wings, a team that even has changed its name, play host to the speedy Chicago Blackhawks. Toronto again starts off as a favorite in the race for the Stanley cup, symbol of the world's professional hockey championship, which will be awarded for the 41st time.

Syracuse, N. Y.—Four Syracuse players will bid farewell to the home gridiron in the Colgate game Saturday. Frank Tindall and Frank Kennedy, guards, and Joe Moran and Dick Fisher, backs, are seniors but most of the other Orange starters are drawn from the sophomore class.

Peekskill to the feature the Aces will stack up against the Columbia Hose Juniors. Playing with the Aces will be Bill Testelli and Galbraith, forwards; Meyers, center; Mellow, Snyder and Clarke, guards. Last week the Aces defeated the Spencer quints, 39-19. Testelli made 22 points.

Yellow Jackets Drill This Evening

Loc. Kantrowitz's Yellow Jackets, scheduled to play the widely heralded Port Jervis Police at the Fair Grounds Sunday afternoon, will hold their own and only practice in preparation for the game tonight at the Manor avenue drill field of the 154th Field Artillery. Every member of the "Wasp" contingent is urged to be present at the session which is scheduled to start at 7:30 o'clock.

Of all the accomplishments that his team has registered to date, Manager Kantrowitz hopes that it will beat the Port Cops, who are the traditional rivals of the Sing Sing prison team. Last year the convicts bowed to the bluecoats from the tri-state city, but this season the gridders of Warden Laves avenged the setback by trouncing the coppers. After this triumph the wards of the state considered themselves unbeatable. And they were just that until they met the Yellow Jackets.

The Kantrowitzers playing their usual hard game punished the line-men of the prison, who fought valiantly but lost out 12-7. However, the convicts were the only group of gridders to score on the Jackets this season. All of the other teams, numbering five, were shut out by the "Wasps".

It is the hope of the Kingstonians to score another triumph without being scored upon by Port Jervis, but the anxiety of the Cops and the preparations they have been making for the Yellow Jackets indicates that the locals will have a tough grid. Plenty of action is promised. Starting time of the game is 2:45.

Elks' 2nd Boxing Show Next Monday

Semi-Final
Ralph Pignone, Poughkeepsie, vs. Tito Perez of Brooklyn, 128 pounds, six rounds.

Special
Adam Unversch, Ellenville, vs. Joe Pincus, Kingston, 145 pounds, six rounds.

Preliminaries

All of the preliminaries are scheduled for four rounds.
Starting time of the scraps is 8:30. Reserved seats are on sale at the Elks' Club and at Bill Singer's service station, Strand and Ferry street.

Peekskill Firemen At Pythian Tonight

The Spiny Radio Five of Port Even will play its second home game at Pythian Hall tonight, meeting the Columbia Hose quints of Peekskill, which it defeated in the down-river community last week. With a keen desire to even the score, the Firemen will take the court against the Spinnymen who hope to make it two straight over the visitors.

Peekskill is composed of Iverson, former Bucknell College star, as center; Olab and Astrak, forwards; Gross and Proette, guards. Last season this team won 25 out of 32 games, Iverson having an average of 15 points a game.

In the Spiny lineup will be Captain "Blag" Van Etten, Jack Short and Dan Joyce, forwards; Hank Krum, center; Al Short and Joe Dalls, guards.

Preliminary to the feature the Aces will stack up against the Columbia Hose Juniors. Playing with the Aces will be Bill Testelli and Galbraith, forwards; Meyers, center; Mellow, Snyder and Clarke, guards. Last week the Aces defeated the Spencer quints, 39-19. Testelli made 22 points.

Holy Cross Head Coach Suspended

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 10 (AP).—Captain John J. McEwan, head coach of the Holy Cross football team since the start of the 1930 season, has been indefinitely suspended by the Rev. Timothy J. Phelan, S. J., moderator of athletics.

The Rev. Father Phelan, acting on the recommendation of the Rev. John M. Fox, S. J., president of the college, last night announced the suspension in a letter to Captain McEwan "on account of your interference with the proper working of our athletic department by an unauthorized and wholly published attempt to discharge one of our staff."

Father Phelan said that Arthur E. "Bunny" Corcoran, end coach at Holy Cross for the last six seasons, was given temporary charge of the squad, but declined further discussion as to the probable duration of the suspension or its effects upon Captain McEwan's future status at Holy Cross. The decision to suspend Captain McEwan marks the first official college action on a coaching controversy which is said to have been smoldering on Mount St. James for some time. It burst into flame after the Crusaders' 10 to 7 defeat by Brown when Captain McEwan announced that Bart Sullivan, veteran Holy Cross track coach, could not continue as his trainer.

Police Radio Car
Is Stolen as Joke

New York.—The police say it was all a joke.

At any rate, a police radio car, in which a crew of Inspector John Gallagher's detectives left Queens headquarters to investigate a hold-up report, was stolen in Long Island city.

It was recovered later when a pedestrian saw it abandoned in Astoria.

The detectives who lost the car left the ignition key in it when they entered a refreshment parlor to investigate the supposed hold-up. There was nothing wrong in the place, but when they returned the car was gone.

DOCTOR KILLS WIFE
WHILE SHE SLEEPS

Declares He Wished to Spare Her From Hunger.

Boston.—Dr. Towneley Thorndike French, fifty-seven-year-old non-practicing and penniless physician, smilingly suggested to the police that "perhaps the psychoanalyst can explain" why he killed his wife as she slept and then kept lonely vigil beside her lifeless body for 36 hours.

The doctor, a cripple, lipped into Lagrange street police station, placed a revolver from which a single shot had been fired on the desk, and said: "There's some trouble at 4 Melrose street. I shot my wife and she's lying dead in a room there."

At patrolman sent to that address confirmed the statement. The body of the doctor's third wife, clad in a yellow nightgown, lay in bed. She had been shot through the head.

Meanwhile, at the police station, Doctor French, regarded as a prodigy at Harvard Medical school from which he was graduated in 1893, was telling, dispassionately, how for the last seven years his wife, working as an elevator operator in a store, had been his sole support. Six weeks ago she was laid off, he said, and since then they had been virtually penniless.

"Why did you kill her?" police asked.

"Why? . . . Why? . . ." the doctor pondered. "The passing of a human being is always mysterious . . . mysterious," he said. "You ask me why? Perhaps the psychoanalyst can tell you."

Finally, he said he killed his wife "because I was tired of seeing her live in abject poverty." He said he felt she would be taken care of and he would have state support "for what time I have to live."

"I placed the gun gently behind the mastoid area behind her left ear and shot her as she was sleeping," he said. "She never knew what happened."

Love Mistakes to Blame for Marriage Failures

New York.—Mistaken in love-making, bad home-making and "failure to use leisure time constructively" were blamed for American marriage failures when the third international congress of eugenics met here recently.

The three points summarize the lifetime experiences of one of the few marriage-counseling bureaus in the world, the Institute of Family Relations of Los Angeles. Paul Popenoe, director, presented the findings.

Not every love-making difficulty leads to a broken home, he said, but in "our experience" almost every such home is preceded by one. And "several studies agree in suggesting that at least in the educated part of the population" these difficulties exist in 25 per cent of more of marriages at any one time.

In bad home-making there are "paralyzing fears" of desertion among many women and some men, "monotony and deadly routine" in home life and a "serious problem" of women who feel lack of proper clothing. He said:

"Sufficient recreation, inexpensive, wholesome and mutual, forms an important part of our treatment. It will doubtless be the universal experience that an city has anything like sufficient facilities of this sort."

One-Armed Bandit Needs
Help in Bakery Robbery

Los Angeles.—The bandit who held up a bakery here was busier than a one-armed paperhanger with the money.

He had only one arm, and his lone hand clutched a pistol aimed at R. L. Sledge, an employee, as he tried valiantly to scoop the money out of a cash drawer.

"Maybe I can help you," offered Sledge.

The robber declined the offer and withdrew to his confederate, who cleaned out the till—containing 40 cents. Then both bandits escaped.

Can't Land Fish Stole It
Lincoln, Neb.—Fishing in a stream near here Bob Hiding, fifteen, hooked a 22½-pound bull trout. After a futile attempt to land it he waded into the stream and killed the fish with a small knife.

Shot of Spider Fatal
Brentham, Ohio.—The bite of a spider proved fatal at Amherst, 26, to Harry M. Johnson, Jr. of this city. The boy was bitten while driving from his home to Amherst.

At The Theatres

Kingston: "Kongo." Entertainment and action filmed in a tropical setting with Walter Huston, Lupe Velez, Conrad Nagel, and Virginia Bruce. It's a tale of the Kongo region, with the usual white man, native complex. Walter Huston steals the show with a realistic performance that gives his talent unlimited possibilities, and Lupe Velez is also good in her first part since returning to the screen from the New York stage.

Orpheum: "Doctor X" and "Virtuous Husband." The first, filmed in Technicolor, is a creepy, exciting, well acted murder mystery with the popular Lee Tracy, supported by Lionel Atwill and Fay Wray. "Virtuous Husband" offers Elliott Nugent and Betty Compson in a laugh drama of domestic troubles.

Broadway: "Blackstone" on the stage, and "Painted Woman" on the screen. Blackstone, magician extraordinary, comes to the Broadway with a new bag of tricks that will greatly increase his ever growing popularity. For years, Blackstone has been giving American theatre audiences a good show, and his act this season is as good, if not better than anything he offered the public in the past. Startling magical feats, illusions galore, everything thrilling and enjoyable in the magical line is to be found in the Blackstone repertoire. He is supported by a capable cast of performers, and his show is well worth seeing. "Painted Woman" is another South Seas episode in which Peggy Shannon effectively plays the part of an outcast who marries a pearl hunter, only to have the past bob up and spoil everything. There is some good scenery, and the act is capable. Spencer Tracy and Lillian Hellman are also in the cast.

Tomorrow: Same.

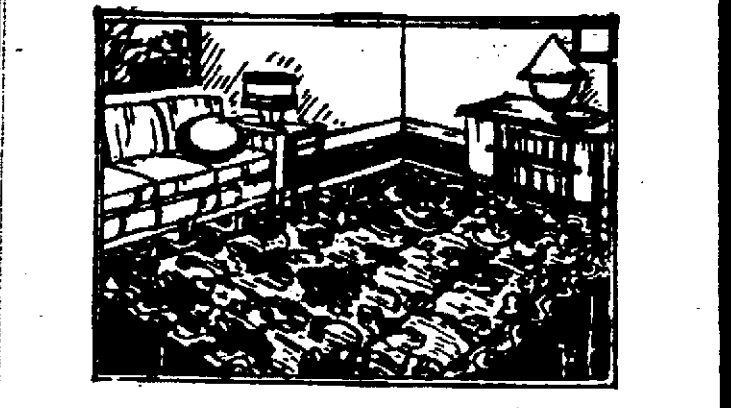

Orpheum: "Birds of Paradise" and "Winner Take All." The number one is a south sea romance, with a white boy falling love with a native girl of the island. This picture was one of the most expensive films to be produced in time. Dolores Del Rio and Joel Cline have the leading roles. In "Winner Take All," a story of the prize ring is crammed with action, and usual Cagney gusto. Marian and Virginia Bruce are in the supporting cast.

Broadway: Same.
